ht forward First among the generals of Austria stands nis, or Ludwig, von Benedek, a genuino Hungartin, and yet trusted alike by Austrian and Maryar, Kaiser and peasant. He was born in 1-03 at Oldenburg (Hungary,) and was the son of shoul professor. He mainfested a bent for a micareer at a very early age; and received a win at a at the Imperial Military Acathan of Neustait. He quitted this at eighteen. in d he a my as a culet, had his first comsi in in 1831, was promoted to be second lieutoward, mared on the staff and sent to Italy. In 325 ho was a captain. Hve years later he was wiveneed to the rank of adjutant major, and left Support- Italy the Poland. His conduct in that unhappy vious, hostile, country was characterized by so much tuct and intelligence that even there he avoided hatred, while both, commendation and reward were bestowed on him by the authorities at Vienna. He passed the grade of lieutena fee denel, and in 1846 aty, entered was under oil cob nel. At this juncture the inserrection in thelicia broke our, and the position ons with their of the Austrian troops was not only dangerous but difficult. The possible rose to a man with the and but for the successful result of General Colhis attack on Cras ev, and the deci-ive advanthe obtained by Benedik at Gdow, the social configration would have lasted much longer. For this Benedek received the Cross of the Order of Leopell, and was entrusted with the task of re-I smilli-hing order in the East. The Archduke Ferdinand a Este at once discerned and apprecinted at its real value the military capacity shown by the Hungari in choust, and recommended bim so earnestly it Court that the regiment of Gyulai banners was p an abunder his command, and the was desputched to the army in It ly, Here be highly distinguished himself. The retreat from Milan to Verona was conducted by him and at the attack of Cartatane his troops susmined a fire of artillerx from either side, and finally by a brilliant bryoned charge decided the fortune of the day. For the be was honourably mentioned by Radetzky, and recommended for, the Order of Theresi, the highest distinction which accords for military s ryle a.
